

PM Attachment 3.20.1
Examples of College Classes Relevant to Behavioral Health

The following courses are currently recognized as relevant to the behavioral health field:

Introduction to psychology, counseling or social work	Applied Social Psychology
Theories of personality development	Health Psychology
Theories of Counseling	Minority Issues In Psychology
Abnormal Psychology	Psychology of Stress and Coping
Mental Health Assessment	Psychology and the Law
Developmental Psychology and Human Development	Psychological Testing
Applied Behavior Management	Clinical Psychology
Vocational Counseling and Career Development	Memory and Cognition
Consultation In Helping Professions	Applied analysis of behavior
Tests and Measurements	Genetic Psychology
Child Psychology	Biological Bases of Behavior
Adolescent Psychology	Psychopharmacology
Psychopathology	Introduction to Social Work
Adult Psychology	Social Service Delivery Systems
Multicultural Counseling	Foundations of Social Work Practice
Personality Theories	Human Biology for Social Workers
Personality Adjustment	Social Work Practice I, II and III
Psychology of Adjustment	Human Behavior in the Social Environment
Cognitive Psychology	Social Policy and Services
Cognitive Development	Introduction to Practice with Children and Families in Child Welfare
Social Psychology	Issues in School Social Work
Physiological Psychology	Learning and Motivation
Theories of Persistence & Change	Group Dynamics
Sociology in Education	Child Language and Drawing
Drug & Alcohol Abuse	Directed Child Study
Attention Deficit Disorders	Substance Abuse
Building Healthy Relationships	Homelessness
Current Trends in Juvenile Delinquency	Crisis Intervention
Sociology of Childhood	Co-Occurring Disorders
Field Experience in Psychology or Social Work	Holistic Therapies
Health Care Ethics	Childhood Development/Early Intervention
Developmental Perspectives of Human Diversity	Infant/Family Assessment
Human Sexual Behavior	Multidisciplinary Gerontology
Community Psychology	Mental Health Aspects of Aging
Psychology of Aging	Assessment of Mental Disorders
Abnormal Child Psychology	Brief Social Work Intervention
Social Development	Social Work and the Law
Social Perception and Cognition	Social Work Ethics and the Law
	Social Work with Families
	Child Welfare Services
	Other relevant coursework

To request additions to this list, contact the ADHS/DBHS Chief of Clinical Services.